Faith is a call to be persistent with God right to the end

29th Sunday in Ordinary Time
16 Oct 2022

Ex 17:8-13
2 Tim 3:14-4:2
Lk 18:1-8

Let's look at the question Jesus asks at the end of today's Gospel passage – "when the Son of man comes, will he find faith on earth?" (Lk 18:8). So why would Jesus be asking this question? Would he not find this faith amongst us when he returns?

CCC 153 puts faith as "a gift of God", a grace given to us with the help of the Holy Spirit to move our hearts and convert it to God. This makes it possible for us to then believe in God, which "is an act of the intellect assenting to the divine truth by command of the will moved by God through grace" (CCC 155). However, faith is more than just an intellectual exercise of saying we trust, it is a call "to walk by faith, not by sight" (CCC 164).

It is a call to stay faithful when we struggle with personal illness, loss of loved ones, strife in marriage or family, job insecurity, poverty or loneliness. Our trust in God can weaken further when individualism, materialism, relativism and secularism seep into our lives. Our struggles may lead us to question our faith in God. If over time our prayers are not answered, it could lead to a larger turning away from God, something Dr Brant Pitre calls a "great apostasy", a sign where the coming of Jesus will be "preceded by a time of tribulation and darkness and sin and a lack of faith".

"And will not God vindicate his elect, who cry to him day and night?" Lk 18:7

What then should we do? Today's parable of the persistent widow who forces the unjust judge to grant her request for justice, is both a timely and timeless reminder of the need to be persistent in our prayers and above all, to do so with hope in the only one who can deliver us. Just as the widow, who represents the most vulnerable groups of people in society, had her request answered by the unjust judge for fear "that she will eventually wear [him] out", surely we can expect more from God because he is all goodness and love, and because we are "his elect, who cry to him day and night"! (Lk 18:5-7).

Pope Francis reminds us that "all of us experience moments of fatigue and discouragement, especially when our prayers seem ineffective, but Jesus assures us (that) unlike the unjust judge, God promptly answers his children". However, this does not mean he does it in the time and manner that we would like. "Prayer is not a magic wand! It helps to preserve our faith in God, and to trust in Him even when we do not comprehend His will" (Audience at St Peter's Square, May 2016). Even if our hearts have been hardened, the psalmist proclaims that "my help is from the Lord" and that too should be our unceasing prayer to our Father, who waits for us to call on him.

The exhortation to pray ceaselessly to God requires effort but the reward for this perseverance is to know that God will come to vindicate us. Take today's first reading from Exodus, which recounts the story of the battle the Israelites had with the Amalekites. Moses went to the top of the hill with the staff of God in his hands. Whenever Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed; and whenever he lowered his hand, the Amalekites prevailed.

We sometimes forget that of all the people in the world, we have the least reason to be afraid because our God who has conquered both sin and death, loves us. Therefore, our prayers should be one of total trust and abandonment to God. While we may not always have our prayers answered the way we want, our persistent prayer can change us and open us to receive God's immeasurable graces and move our hearts to share in His perfect will.

So, "when the Son of Man comes again, will he find faith on earth?" If we persist with prayer which Pope Francis says "keeps the faith, (for) without this, the faith wavers", then yes, Jesus might just come and find us being faithful right to the end.

How to pray without ceasing?

"Rejoice always, pray without ceasing, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you." (1 Thessalonians 5:16-17)

To "pray without ceasing" means to have our minds always on the things of God, to be in constant communication with him, so that every moment may be as fruitful as possible. How can we learn to "pray without ceasing?" Here are three practical steps.

1 Plan times for prayer

The first step is to develop a habit of regular prayer. And like all habits, it will take practice and perseverance.

AT MEALS

If the practice of praying at meals is not something you were taught or do right now, this is an easy way to pray more. For those of us who follow this practice, it is likely that we quickly thank God for our food and get on with eating. However, being more mindful in our prayer takes little time and can immensely increase the effectiveness of it.

WHEN READING SCRIPTURE

Start your daily Bible reading with prayer for God's Spirit to give insight and clarity as you read; end your reading with a prayer inspired by what you've read. Recite Scripture as you pray, and elaborate on how it speaks to you of what God is doing or wants to do in you. Make any time you meditate on Scripture a time of prayer.

AT THE START AND END OF THE DAY

When you wake up, dedicate the day to God in prayer. This focuses your mind on prayerfulness that will help carry you through the day, while developing the habit of constant prayer.

When you get ready for bed, thank God for his provision, and pray through your day. This will help quiet your mind and heart as you give over the things of the day to Jesus.

2 Start short and simple

There are people who are natural prayer warriors. They are gifted in prayer and are able to stay vigilant and focused. Others may have a way with words and know how to lift up praise and supplications to God with faith and confidence.

But sometimes frequent, short times of prayer can work just as well too. If you are one of those (like me) who constantly struggle to focus and stay still, then perhaps keeping it short and simple is a good way to start. So don't worry if your prayer times are short. Our Lord is not limited by our limitations; he is exalted in them. Only our great God could glorify himself through such frail vessels as us. If we come to him in humility, for his glory, and to bear fruit through him, he will lovingly take whatever we have to offer — even if it is but a trifle. We must trust him and faithfully take faltering steps into prayer.

3 Pray according to God's will

To pray without ceasing means that prayer is not primarily about us; it's about God. While God wants us to come to him with our concerns, we must understand as fully as possible what his concerns are.

First, seek to love God with everything you are through and in prayer. Then, seek to love your neighbour through prayer. In this way you seek God's will in every aspect of your prayers, as you include the concerns, requests, and needs for the people God has put around you.

Pray for your literal neighbour, those in your church, strangers you have interacted with recently, your priests and politicians. Pray without ceasing for all of them as you do for yourself — with God's will paramount in your prayers for them.

ANOINTING OF THE SICK

The sacrament can be administered to any Catholic awaiting serious surgery, suffering from serious illness or weakened by old age. Anointing may be given before admission for the anticipated medical procedure. Contact the Parish Office to request for a priest. In emergencies, priests of the church nearest to the hospital can be contacted.

INFANT BAPTISM

Spiritual preparation is held on the last Friday of every odd month. Baptism is held on the first/second Sunday of the following month. For registration, please refer to our website.

FUNERAL

Please check with the Parish Office for priest availability and Mass timing before confirming the timing at the crematorium. For prayers at the wake, please contact the Parish Office.

MARRIAGE

Contact the Parish Office 12 months before your intended date to book the church premises and ensure that your presiding priest is able to make that date.

MASS OFFERING

Mass offering envelopes are available outside the Parish Office. Submit your envelopes at least two weeks in advance of your intended date. Please write the names clearly, and in block letters.
