The Light of Nations

Feast of the Presentation of the Lord
2 Feb 2025

Mal 3:1-4
Heb 2:14-18
Lk 2:22-40

"Christ is the light of the nations" (Lumen Gentium 1). He is the "true light that enlightens all men" (Jn 1:9) and a light for "all the nations to see" (Lk 2:32). Indeed, this theme of light that permeated the readings of the Christmas season reaches its climax today, on the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord, which falls 40 days after Christmas.

The theme of light is explicitly visible in the unique rite of today's liturgy: the blessing of candles, which gives the feast its alternative name, Candlemas. The candles remind us that Christ has come into the world to dispel the darkness of night and to illumine our lives with hope and truth. In his novel De Maanden (The Months), the Flemish author Stijn Streuvels writes: "Candlemas brings to mind clarity and light. The six dark weeks are past; winter is fading. Candlemas: a prelude of the coming spring to which humans aspire and hope will be a liberation, a new beginning."

Importantly, Christ is not a light that remains distant, like a blazing star in a faraway galaxy that has no effect on us. Instead, Christ is like the sun, whose rays shine across the sky and whose heat we feel on our skin. Christ is the light

*"Thus, as those everywhere who adore in holy activity, the laity consecrate the world itself to God"

that comes to encounter us and to give us life. It is for this reason that the Eastern Churches call today's feast Hypapante, which is Greek for encounter or meeting. In the liturgical text for today's candlelight procession, we hear that Jesus, in his presentation in the Temple, "was coming to meet his believing people". Jesus, the light of the world, has come to dwell among us, to encounter us, and to fill us with "the brilliance of perpetual light".

But what do we do, now that we have received this light? In its dogmatic constitution, Lumen Gentium, the Church tells us that we aren't meant to keep this light to ourselves; rather, we are called to "bring the light of Christ to all men" (Lumen Gentium 1). The goal of the Church is "[to] carry forward the work of Christ" (Gaudium et Spes 3), because all members of the Church share in Christ's mission just as we share in his life. Today's second reading tells us that Christ "[became] completely like his brothers" (Heb 2:17) and shared equally in "the same flesh and blood" (Heb 2:14) as all mankind. By taking on our human nature, Christ opens the doors for us to participate in his divine life and to share in the glory of him who is "the king of glory" (Ps 23:8).

As such, the lay faithful of the Church have a unique role in bearing Christ's light to the world, as they "seek the kingdom of God by engaging in temporal affairs and by ordering them according to the plan of God" (Lumen Gentium 31). This means implementing the social teachings of the Church in our lives – including exercising our dignity in our work, caring for our common home, and upholding the rights of migrant workers. Our engagement with the affairs of the world is a part of our spiritual lives, not because the affairs are spiritual in nature, but because we are (c.f. Gaudium et Spes 43). We are the priestly people of God, who draw nourishment from the Church's life so that we "work for the sanctification of the world from within" (Lumen Gentium 31). In this way, we are like the "sons of Levi" (Mal 3:3) in the first reading, who "make the offering to the Lord" (Mal 3:3) by offering our lives as spiritual sacrifice. "Thus, as those everywhere who adore in holy activity, the laity consecrate the world itself to God" (Lumen Gentium 34).

Christ is the light of the nations, and we, who have encountered that light, are called to bring it to all mankind. By engaging with secular affairs with the right social values, we thus consecrate the world to God and permeate society with the light of Christ.

THE CENACLE SISTERS SINGAPORE: CREATING SAFE SPACES IN COMMUNITIES AND RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS

This two-day workshop seminar introduces Safeguarding as a Charism and Spirituality. Starting with its theological and spiritual foundations, including the dynamics of victimisation and offending, all forms of abuse will be explored. This workshop is highly recommended for all who hold leadership positions in the Church. As Pope Francis insists, "We are a sign that the ministry of safeguarding belongs to all of us as it is part of the Church's ministry, indeed of evangelization itself," and without safe spaces and interior freedom from the heart, our Church will never be safe where the Gospel is freely proclaimed.

Dates: 22 - 23 March 2025
Venue: La Salle House

RCIA Retreat 2025

Over the weekend of 17-19 Jan, 28 catechumens and candidates from the RCIA attended a retreat at the St Francis Xavier Retreat Centre. Designed to further explore and deepen their faith, retreatants participated in a variety of activities including praise and worship, input and sharing sessions and a rosary walk. These activities built up to what could be described as a highlight for many retreatants- the exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and an evening of adoration. For many, this was their first time encountering Jesus in such a personal way. Two inquirers and a candidate also underwent the Rite of Acceptance at the celebration of Mass, bringing the retreat to a fitting close. Here's what some catechumens and candidates had to say about their retreat experience:

"It was the first time in Adoration for me and I feel that the activities really helped us get into the mood. Adoration was the highlight of the retreat - how sacred and grand it felt to be there in God's presence!" - Valerie Chew, Candidate

"The rosary walk was one of the highlights of the retreat for me. We were blessed with good weather and the walk inspired me to do a rosary walk in my own time." - Alvin Eng, Catechumen

"I greatly appreciate the mapping activity that opened my group to sharing about the difficulties we went through, and to see how similar our journeys were. I felt like I was able to be there for them and to empathise. Being there for them and being a pillar of support made me feel happy." - Jamie Cheng, Candidate

"Being there in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament, allowing myself to be in the moment and appreciate the time that I had with Jesus made me realize that He loves me unconditionally and is always there for me." - Debbie Yee, Catechumen

"It was good to map my spiritual life history. This exercise enabled me to notice the ups and downs in my life and how God had helped and blessed me throughout my life." - Chee Teck Huei, Catechumen

"I have learned to not worry, but to let go of my fear and believe that God will always guide me." - Tristan Kyler Liew, Catechumen

Let us keep our catechumens and candidates in prayer as they journey ever closer to baptism!
